THE MARTENS SHOOTING CASE. Coroner Croker yesterday held an inquest on the body of Antoine Martens, who shot himself in Twentyeighth street, after shooting his wife's supposed paramour, Thomas Rogers, the testimony showing clearly that the deceased committed suicide.

Elizabeth B. MacKessey, who lives over Martens' clgar store, testified that she saw, from her window, Mar-tens fire two shots at some person, and then place the pistol to his own head and fire.

Mary Martens, wife of deceased, testified that on the day before New Year's Rogers, who was a good customer of her husband, came into the store, and, as the witness was sitting in the back room, he went in there; just then her husband entered the store and had some words with Rogers; that day the deceased purchased a pistol, and ever since had acted like a crazy man; he had threatened several times to shoot Rogers, witness and himself; on last Tuesday deceased again saw Rogers talking to witness, and fired two shots at him; deceased then stried to shoot witness, who hid in the hall; he then followed Rogers into the street and fired two slots at him; after this Martens shot himself, as described by the last witness.

The jury rendered a verdict of suicide.

A YOUNG WIFE'S SUICIDE.

Augusta Thompson, a young and once beautiful woman, residing at No. 150 Clinton street, Hoboken, committed suicide yesterday under peculiar circumstances. She was twice married, and by her first husband had a child, now three years old. Her present husband is a sailor in the United States Navy. Thomphusband is a sailor in the United States Navy. Thompson visited her three weeks ago, and the neighbors say that while he was in the house the par were constantly quarreiling. Last week she became very iil, and a friend called in Dr. Condon to attend her. She told him she wanted to die, and did not want to be burdened with any more children, as she was about becoming a mother again. She confessed to the doctor that she had eaten the charged ends of a box of common lucifer matches, and thought that the phosphorus would kill her. Dr. Condon used every effort to save her life, but in vain.

SENATE.

Washington, Jan. 13, 1876.
The Chair laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Interior enclosing a communication from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs in answer to the Senate resolution of January 12, 1876, in regard to the expenditure of $300,000 for the support and education of certain Indians. Ordered to be printed THE PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSOR.

Senator CHRISTIANCY, (rep.) of Mich., submitted the ollowing:-

Resolved. That the Judiciary Committee be directed to inquire and report to the Senate whether the act of March 1, 1792, is not defective; and, if so, in what particular in making the necessary provisions for the various contingencies which may arise in case of the removal of the President from office, or of his deash, resignation or inability to discharge the powers and duties of said office; and if, in their opinion, such defects exist what further or other legislation is best calculated to remedy such defects; and in that event that they report such bill or joint resolution as in their opinion the case may require.

resolution submitted by him.

Mr. Davis, of West Virginia, said:—

Mr. President—In examining the finance reports of the Secretary of the Treasury that have been made for previous years I have been astonished to find changes and alterations of figures in many of them, involving large amounts, causing them to differ widely from each other as to the transactions of the Treasury Department in the same years. These changes, I am prepared to show from the reports, increase the expenditures and public debt after the amounts thereof have been ascertained, officially reported and stood upon the books of the Treasury Department for years, in the aggregate many millions of dollars, while in other years they decrease these amounts; and that they also decrease to the amount of millions the revenue collections that have been likewise ascertained, reported and stood upon the books for years. If I am correct in my conclusions. I do not hesitate to declare that for certain years little confidence can be or should be placed in the statements of the Treasury Department, and this fact becomes a serious question, demanding the carnest and best consideration of the Senate. And in the remarks I am about to make, which will be brief, feeling my position strong, my information accurate, being entirely from official sources, I shall thank any Senator, if he has reason to question them, and teels that he can throw any light upon the subject to interrupt and correct me. At the expense of being tedious to those not interested in such matters I propose to deal almost exclusively with figures and facts, officially reported. Comparisons I expect to make, which will be reported and sterations such as I expect to make, which will reported to the Treasury Department during certain years; but I disclain all desire to reflect on the present efficient head of the Treasury Department or any of his prodecessors.

CHANGE OF FIGURES IN EXPENDITIEES.

In the finance report for 1871 the expendi-tures in this department are put down for the year 1865 at. $122,617,434 In the report for 1809 these same expendi-tures are put down for the same year at. 122,567,776 in the grars commencing with 1862 and ending with 1870. But in the figures in the finance reports seem to have been in the annual statements of the public debt, my attention having been first called to them by the abic Senator from Connecticut, and I will terminate these comparisons by a reference to them. But before doing so I desire to state that in the comparisons just made as to receipts and expenditures I have taken the figures from the Register's reports in the various finance reports made by the Secretary of the Treasury. I find that up to 1870 the Register is the only officer that incorporated in his report statements and tables showing the annual revenue collected, annual expenditures and public debt from the organization of the government. In the year 1870 and following up to the present time it seems that, accompanying the Secretary's report in each of the linance reports, these same tables are to be found, giving an annual statement of the revenue collected, expenditures and public debt, notwithstanding the Register, whose official duty it is, continues these same tables in his report.

These tables and statements accompanying the Secretary's report, commencing in the finance report of 1870, differ from the Register's tables in many respects, but seem to be copies of them, except as to the public debt, and here the differences in flagures are most marked. How those tables have been made, from what sources, and the necessity of them, I have been unable to ascertain, because to make these annual tables and statements seems to have been the official duty of the Register, and they have allways been found in his reports from the organization of the government.

CHANGES IN THE PUBLIC DEET STATEMENT.

By examining the finance reports for 1870 and 1871 it will be seen that great changes have been made in the statement of the public debt, particularly for the years between 1862 and 1870, inclusive. For instance, in the report of 1871 the statement of the public debt is put down, commenc
